FLIGHTLINE TECHNICAL SERVICES CUTS RIBBON ON NEW 26,000SQFT SERVICE CENTER

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., May 27, 2009 – Flightline Technical Services, a subsidiary of Flightline Group, Inc, celebrated the grand opening of the new 26,000 sqft service center with a ribbon cutting ceremony attended by over 100 employees, Tallahassee City officials and members of the local business community. Cutting the ribbon were Mac Langston, Chairman & CEO of Flightline; C. Daniel Langston, President & COO of Flightline; Ken Austin, Airport Director of Tallahassee Regional Airport; Bill Ashbaker, FL DOT; Sue Dick, President of the Tallahassee Chamber of Commerce; Fred Davis, V.P. Maintenance of Flightline; Bob Van Riper, V.P., Aircraft Sales of Flightline & HondaJet East; and red-jacketed Ambassadors from the Tallahassee Chamber of Commerce.

“Completion of a project as large and complicated as this took dedication from many more people than just members of the Flightline team,” said Mac Langston, Chairman and CEO at Flightline Group. “To the State of Florida Department of Transportation, the City of Tallahassee, the management team at Tallahassee Regional Airport, our construction and architect partners at Gilchrist, Ross & Crowe and Allbritton Williams, our banking, legal and insurance partners and the army of skilled engineers, carpenters, electricians, plumbers, and other craftspeople, we say thank you for your thoughtful and committed efforts. We would not be opening this impressive new facility without you.”

Located in Tallahassee, Florida (KTLH), the Technical Service Center is well positioned to service aircraft based or traveling to or from the southeastern U.S. The staff at Flightline’s Technical Service Center is factory trained and authorized by Piper, Cessna and Cirrus to conduct warranty and other service work on these models of aircraft. And the next few years will bring new advanced light jets to Tallahassee for service work. In the coming years, the company will also perform authorized service work on the new PiperJet. HondaJet Southeast, also a Flightline Group company, will conduct authorized maintenance for owners located across the southeast from their Tallahassee location as the HondaJet comes online. C. Daniel Langston, President and COO of Flightline Group noted that, “In addition to piston and turbine general aviation aircraft, the facility was designed to accommodate aircraft as large as Regional Jets in use by some of the commuter airlines. Aircraft owners from across the southeastern U.S. and as far away as Curacao, entrust us with the care and service of their aircraft.”

The new service facility will be home to Flightline's team of over 12 aircraft maintenance professionals with over 250 years of combined experience on all types of aircraft. "Our team is going to enjoy working in this spacious and well designed facility," said Fred Davis, V.P. of Maintenance at Flightline Technical Services. "And our customers, with aircraft of all sizes, appreciate the amenities offered at our new facility, such as the spacious and well appointed lobby, lounge and communication system."

In the hangar during the event was a Piper Meridian equipped with a new G-1000 Avionics suite, sent to Tallahassee by Piper Aircraft for the event. Also in the hangar for guests to experience was a second Piper Meridian and a Piper Matrix. The Meridian and Matrix are both six-seat, single engine aircraft. The Meridian, however, has a pressurized fuselage and is powered by a PT-6A turboprop engine, while the Matrix has an unpressurized fuselage and is powered by a piston engine.
